					Hi I just received a call from ++ she is the agent managing the property and she said her tenant is complaining about the taste of water from when the meter was installed. I see we have done a leak repair in the toby on 6 January 2025. I told her we haven't change our treatment process and there is nothing could think of that will cause change the water taste. Could you get someone to check with the people living in this property?
